

Terms and Conditions

Terms And Conditions for Electrical Compliance

This page of the website (The Site) is a Terms And Conditions statement for Electrical Compliance, our website is a product of Trade Facilities Services (TFS) Ltd, “we”, “us”, “our” and terms of similar meaning. This also includes our related products, services and any other information we collect or provide on our site. This page describes the information we collect from our clients, providers clients or other parties as part of the normal operation of our site, this includes how and when we use and disclose this information.

By using either by visiting or registering or engaging with our website you are expressly consenting to our collection, use and disclosure of your personal information in accordance with this privacy policy.

The privacy policy on this website using various terms to describe different types of users and visitors to our site, below are various terms that can be used

‘Customers”, “clients”, “our clients” – Customer is the term often used

People who engage with the user side of our site will generally be regarded as “users”, these are the people are often referred to in this privacy policy statement.